

David Jones

Chairman

President & Chief Executive Officer Peak 10

David co-founded Peak 10 in March of 2000 and has led the company to a top market position as the leading independent data center operator and managed services provider in the United States. As the company's President and Chief Executive Officer, David has assembled a talented management team which has worked together to build the industry's strongest balance sheet and income statement, as well as a solid forecast for long-term growth and continued profitability as the company continues to expand existing data centers and enter into new markets. Peak 10 has been named to Inc. magazine's annual ranking of the 500 fastest-growing private companies in the country for two consecutive years.

David displays a passionate entrepreneurial spirit, exceptional instincts, leadership skills and he delivers results. Prior to forming Peak 10, David was president of the Competitive Solutions Group at CHR Solutions, a telecommunications management-consulting firm based in Dallas, Texas. He has 25 years of combined executive leadership experience in sales, marketing and operations working for GTE (Verizon), Telecom*USA, MCI and ITC Holding Company.

Active in the community, David is chairman of the board of directors for the North Carolina Technology Association, where he has worked diligently for NCTA over the years, offering his time and expertise, in particular, heading up the 2007 Membership Committee, serving as ambassador for membership in the Charlotte market, serving as liaison to the Charlotte WISE program to bridge goals and objectives with NCTA and also serving on the Executive Committee in 2008. David has worked tirelessly to support technology companies throughout North Carolina so that they collaborate for the common good. David also serves on the board of directors of the Steele Creek YMCA in Charlotte. He also has served on the executive committee and board of directors for the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce and is the former chairman of the Business Innovation and Growth (BIG) Council. David is a previous recipient of the Entrepreneur of the Year Award by the Charlotte Chamber of Commerce.

David holds a B.A. degree in Economics from the University of Virginia and also completed the Executive Development Business Program at George Washington University. His interests include outdoor fitness activities, cycling and running, with a long history of marathon racing including current ownership of a bicycle business, which caters to a broad range of active sports and sponsors two professional cycling teams.

As Chairman and CEO of Max Q, Phyllis continues to support clients in the creation and management of contingency plans that are tailored to meet customer environments and industry needs. One of her most significant accomplishments in this role includes the effective management and development of more than 175 Y2K contingency plans for one of the largest Global 500 pharmaceutical companies. As a result, she was awarded the GlaxoSmithKline Y2K Contingency Planning Excellence Award.

Phyllis currently serves on the boards of the North Carolina Technology Association (NCTA), Vice-Chair of the Business Continuity Professionals of the Carolinas (BCPC), former board member and Secretary of the NC Business Committee for Education (NCBCE), former Chair of the City of Durham's Minority and Women's Business Enterprise (MWBE) Advisory Committee, and former board member of the National Kidney Foundation of NC. She continues to speak on topics of technology, education, and entrepreneurship. She is an avid reader and a marathoner.
